Hurst Warne recruits Simon Fitch from the West End

Well known office agent Simon Fitch is joining Hurst Warne as a Director, having previously held a senior role in BNP Paribas Real Estates' south-east office agency team.

Simon is a highly regarded figure in the south-east office agency market with nearly 20 years' property experience. Simon's initial focus will be to work alongside his agency colleagues at Hurst Warne to target new opportunities for the company in the southern M25 and M3 area.

Will Gelder, Director at Hurst Warne, comments "We are delighted that Simon has agreed to join Hurst Warne. He has an impressive track record in the office agency market within and outside of our current region. Simon will be a valuable addition to the business and we look forward to him assisting us with our growth plans as a company. We provide a wide spectrum of property advice to our clients and Simon will be free to use his skills in other agency sectors including development and investment."

Simon starts with Hurst Warne in September 2018.
